

News from Class 3-A

Mrs. Pescitelli October 2007

Our class is planning a trip to Brookfield Zoo near the end of the month. Before the event, students will choose an endangered zoo animal to research and write about. The stories will be told in first person (as if the author is the animal). It'll be cool to see the animals in person!

At the end of last month the pull out reading classes began. Those students who receive the extra reading boost are enjoying their time with Mr. Mlot and Mrs. Mason!

To learn more about each other and practice good audience skills, there is a 'star' student randomly chosen each week. He/She gives a personal presentation and fields questions. It is fun for

What We Did Last Month

Math: Graphs and Place Value

Art: Elements of Art, Watercolors

Reading: Small Guided Groups, Read Naturally, Literature Circles

Writing: Narrative Style

Grammar: Parts of speech

On September 10th our class visited the new Hoover Outdoor Education Center in Yorkville. The students learned about team building through fun activities. We also hiked the beautiful trails to the Fox River. How fortunate to have

CALENDAR

Early Release- Oct 5th

No School- Oct 8th

Brookfield Zoo Trip- Oct 26

Halloween Party Oct 31st